EXECUTIVE PROFILE

Brad Stewart is an executive leader with more than twenty years of experience driving commercialization, strategic partnerships, product strategy, and business transformation. He has built multiple companies, advised emerging technology organizations, and transformed two decades of operational expertise into Music Mogul AI, an AI-enabled operating system that modernizes how independent creators and entertainment organizations grow. His philosophy is simple: technology should amplify human expertise, not replace it.

SELECTED ACCOMPLISHMENTS

- Architected and commercialized Music Mogul AI, a first-of-its-kind AI-enabled operating system for independent artists.
- Founded Stewart Entertainment Agency and expanded it into Mogul Talent Group.
- Modernized agency operations at Intrepid Artists with cloud collaboration and VoIP, enabling remote work years before it became standard practice.
- Supported more than 400 artists and helped develop 350-plus touring acts, including Grammy winner Cedric Burnside.
- Personally financed multiple companies and the publication of The Music Business Playbook.
- Strategic Advisor to Verified Human and EMBARQX.
- Recipient of the Keeping the Blues Alive Award and International Blues Challenge judge for nine consecutive years.

EXECUTIVE PHILOSOPHY

Organizations rarely fail for lack of talent. They fail because valuable expertise stays trapped inside people instead of becoming scalable systems. I help organizations find the real bottleneck, build the infrastructure, commercialize the innovation, and use AI to amplify human capability, with measurable outcomes.
